

Suspiciously Kind

You smiled too wide – I caught your glance, she stood nearby, all heels and stance.

I asked you lightly, "Who was that?"
You said, "Just Claire, a friend I met."

Since then, I keep my questions few,
my mind invents what might be true.
And when your phone begins to ring,
my thoughts start doing their own thing.

