

Longing

My heart seeks you each lonely night,
Longing burns till morning's light.
I count the hours till you're near,
My joy returns when you are here.

In dreams you're always by my side,
Yet waking, you're gone far and wide.
Come home again, ease longing's ache,
So love may heal this heart you break.

